Adjustment Required?			3		1		5

Notes:

- (a) Under the calculation, the Conservative Group has notionally been allocated 57 seats on committees which is 3 short of the strict entitlement of 60 and therefore a manual adjustment of +3 is required.
- (b) The Liberal Democrat Group has notionally been allocated 11 seats on committees which is 1 short of the strict entitlement of 12 and therefore a manual adjustment of +1 is required.
- (c) Whilst there is a UKIP councillor, a group cannot be formed by a single member and so for the purposes of these calculations, the UKIP councillor will be treated as an independent member.
- (d) Therefore, there are 2 independent councillors who do not represent any political group. There is no strict entitlement calculation applicable to an independent member however, following the calculations and allocation of seats to political groups, the Council must appoint the non-group members to any seats not otherwise allocated. In doing this, the Council may allocate seats from those committees requiring a balancing adjustment.
