YOUR COMMENTS ON THE CASE

This Theatre and associated company of amateur actors and many other involved people have an extraordinary history of success both in their productions and also in the teaching of youth and in the involvement of the local community eg "Mens' Shed" that does much to help locally. I have enjoyed plays there and it is very highly regarded by my friends. They have overcome many difficulties in reaching the successful situation that we have today. I feel that Fareham Borough Council might have been very proud of their success and had discussions to find ways of making the future development possible. I realise that parking for the theatre is a major issue but this could be overcome by a willingness to do so helped by FBC. It is vital that ways are found to allow the development to proceed
