YOUR COMMENTS ON THE CASE

The Titchfeild Theatre and Ardon, provide a unique service to the community. Local people are able to perform and young talent develop. Numerous young people have been given the chance to develop performance skills and many have gone on to study drama and theatre at university and beyond. These opportunities are not available in the for profit theatres or indeed the council run theatre which is focused on professional performers at a high cost to the audience. The heavy handed approach of the borough council is unforgivable and targeted at the very community it is there to serve.

It is vital that the community can continue to have an independent theatre group that will focus on enabling cultural development, amateur dramatics, opera and above all offer opportunity for all peoples in our community an opportunity to perform and develop.
